RUMOR PROVES TO BE FALSE ONE

Is Reported That George Reeve Was Killed in Automobile Smash-up Near Lewisville.

STORY ON EVERYONE'S LIPS

Crowd of Three Hundred People Gathers at the Garage Eagerly Awaiting Latest Reports.

By some whimsical chance of Dame Fortune, Dame Rumor took a hand last evening and all Rushville was under a strain of excitement that it has not experienced for some time. It was reported and it was said to be very authentic, that George Reeve had been killed and Miss Irene Carr had been seriously injured in an automobile smash-up near Lewisville. The word was passed around about seven o'clock last evening and the news soon spread to the far corners of the city. The story was on the lip of everyone and it was generally conceded that the story was very authentic. A crowd of at least three hundred people gathered in front of the Reeve garage at the corner of Morgan and Second streets and further reports of the alleged fatal accident were eagerly awaited. The crowd did not scatter until about nine o'clock when word was received at the garage by phone from Mr. Reeve that the machine had broken down and that it would be necessary to send a machine after the one which he had been driving.

It has developed today that there was absolutely no foundation for the reports that were spread over the city last evening. A wire on the commutator broke and disabled the machine so that it could not be run. Word was sent to this city for help, but, according to the occupants of the broken car, it was repaired and they had started back to this city, when they met the machine which had started from the Reeve garage to tow the broken car to this city.

It seems that the accident happened at the outskirts of Lewisville. According to Miss Carr, who was doing the driving when the machine broke, she and Mr. Reeve were taking a man and woman to Lewisville.

It seems next to impossible to trace the source of the false report. A telephone call was sent into the Reeve Motor company, according to employees there, which stated that Mr. Reeve had been killed in an auto accident and the phone was cut off. Again it is reported that an unidentified motorist told that a Rushville man and woman had been seriously hurt in an accident near Lewisville. Many Rushville people drove toward Lewisville in their machines last evening when the report reached this city but it is not known that any of them found any trace of the belated machine.

Dr. Frank H. Green, county health commissioner, today lifted the ban placed on public gatherings in the southern part of the county last week on account of the smallpox epidemic, and meetings may be held as usual now. Mr. Lyons will make the fourth Rushville man in charge of offices of acetylene gas companies. FACTORY MARKS PASSING OF BARN

Industrial Improvement is Shoving Off Globe Old Landmark on Bowen Tract of Land.

VALUABLE TIMBER IN BARN

With the coming of the new factory being built by the Rushville Furniture company in the Stewart & Tompkins addition to Belmont, is the passing of one of the old landmarks in this vicinity, the old barn, which has stood on the Abraham Bowen farm for several decades. The northwest corner of the factory is jammed up squarely against the old barn and is all but shoving it out of existence.

A careful examination shows that the barn is constructed of what is now almost priceless lumber. Beautiful old walnut boards are found there in abundance. Some of the walnut in the barn is eighteen inches wide and two inches thick. The barn floor is made of walnut, ash, oak and poplar. The valuable wood which would be worth much now, were it not hacked and scarred by the years of wear, is to be found all over the barn. Men working on the factory building have marveled at the beautiful specimen. It is to be supposed that that kind of timber was plentiful at the time the barn was built and the price of it was not very great.

HORSES WIN IN STRAIGHT HEATS

Harrie Jones Takes Two Races at Terre Haute, Driving Alcyfras a Mile in 2:08 1/4.

LOCAL MEN INSIDE THE MONEY

John D. Captures 2:20 Pace at Edinburg—Gosnell Third at Erie, Pa.

Rushville horses and drivers continue their winning streak and yesterday was a very successful day for the local men at the various race meets. Harrie Jones won two races at Terre Haute in straight heats. In the free-for-all pace he drove Alcyfras a mile in 2:08 1/4, which was the fastest time made this year on a half-mile track and is a record for the Terre Haute track. The roan mare with Jones driving had little trouble in taking the race in straight heats. The time was 2:08 1/4, 2:08 3/4 and 2:11 1/2. This is the first race this season for Alcyfras and local followers of the game predict great things for her before the close of the year.

The other race credited to Jones was the 2:25 trot. In this race he drove Barney B., a black gelding. Barney B. had little trouble winning from a large field. The best time was made in the third heat when Gold-bender driven by Niles pushed Jones hard and the mile was clipped off in 2:19 1/4.

Curt Gosnell, who has been very successful this season in the Lake Erie circuit, took third money yesterday at Erie, Pa., in the 2:19 pace with Celia W.

Horrie Brooks won first money with John D. at Edinburg yesterday in the 2:20 pace. The race was taken in straight heats, the best time being 2:19 1/4. A collision in the third heat of this race resulted in the serious injury of Ora Stockton of Morgantown, driver of Oaklynn. The accident occurred at the first turn of the track. Oaklynn was wearing hobbles and was thrown from its feet, Stockton being thrown over the horse's head. He suffered a dislocated hip and internal injuries.

Joe Christman, another local trainer at Edinburg, drove J. C. Patchen to second money in the 2:15 pace. The race was won by Howtella, the time in all three heats being 2:14 1/4. In this race Lady Veach, driven by John Veach a Rush county horseman, got fifth place and Lady J, driven by Frank Lindsay, got sixth. Brooks has Dr. Czar entered in the 2:25 pace today and Frank Lindsay will start James W. in the 2:24 trot.

DOGS KILL 150 CHICKENS

Make Wholesale Slaughter at Home of Fletcher Kimberlin.

Policeman Wolters was called to the home of Fletcher Kimberlin in West Third street late yesterday afternoon to kill three dogs which were killing the chickens of Mr. Kimberlin. Before the officer ended the slaughter, 150 young chickens had been killed by the dogs. Mr. Kimberlin tried to stop the dogs but was unsuccessful and sent for the policeman, who made quick work of them. "Doc" buried the animals and did not attempt to send them by freight.

James E. Watson returned last evening from an extensive trip through the West, where he has been delivering chautauqua addresses. He spoke last week at Kankakee, Illinois.

CARTHAGE BOY IN HERO STUNT

Henry Stinger Well Known Here, Captures Diamond Robber in Seattle, Washington.

THIEF STEALS $25,000 WORTH

Holds Crowd at Bay With Revolver and Backs Away—Local Boy Intervenes.

Henry Stinger, a former Carthage boy, who lived here for a time a few years ago and who is well known by Rushville young people, was a real hero and stepped out into the glare of the limelight in Seattle, Washington, the other day. It seems that he was the only man in Seattle who had just the right amount of nerve needed to step in the path of a man who had robbed a jewelry store and who had put every one to route.

A copy of the Seattle Daily Star has been received in Carthage. A thrilling account is given of the robbery, the manner in which the robber held a large crowd at bay with a revolver and the heroic manner in which the former Rush county boy intervened at the proper time and captured the thief. The paper also contains an excellent picture of Mr. Stinger.

The story states that at 10:30 o'clock that morning, Edward Burns, armed with a revolver, held six store employees at bay while he backed out of the front door of B. L. Gates' Jewelry store with two trays of diamonds value at $25,000. The yells of the pursuers attracted hundreds of people and it soon became evident that the robber could not escape. He was game, however, and ran like a madman until H. L. Stinger, manager of the Seattle Typewriter company crossed his path.

Just as the fleeing crook gained the net work of tracks along the water front he was grabbed by Stinger, who threw both arms around Burns and held on for dear life until Patrolman Unland arrived and handcuffed the robber and he was soon landed safely in the city jail. Every diamond was recovered and returned to the store.

AUTO GOES INTO DITCH

Belt Auto Traction Company Has Accident in Infancy.

Miss Linnie Parker, of Hendricks township was seriously hurt and fourteen other passengers on the Belt Auto Traction Company's car narrowly escaped injury when the car went into the ditch, south of Smithland, at twelve-thirty o'clock Thursday afternoon, says the Shelbyville News. The accident was caused by the obstinacy of a man driving a horse who refused to give the auto its share of the road, forcing the chauffeur to run into the ditch in order to avoid a collision. The machine did not overturn but Mss Parker was thrown out and caught under the running board of the ar. She was badly bruised about the shoulders and back. Miss Parker's brother, Al-G. Parker, was running the machine.

SHE WAS HERE.

Huntington Herald: As the only woman driver, May Simpson of Marion attracted considerable attention in the 2:25 pace at Montpelier Tuesday. Her horse, Black Lad, was responsible for a mix-up in which four horses fell. At the first turn, he lost his footing and the other following close behind were piled up.

WANT TWO NEW ROADS

Petition Will be Filed With Henry County Auditor.

Petitions for the improvement of two highways in Franklin township, under the provisions of the three-mile-road law, will be filed Friday in the office of the county auditor, says the New Castle Courier. One petition asks for the macadamizing of the National road from the west line of the town of Lewisville to George Morris' property in Lewisville. The other seeks the graveling and grading of the Lewisville and Raleigh pike from the National road to the Rush county line.

MERCHANTS TELL OF BARGAINS TODAY

Hope to Make "Big Wednesday" Next Week Better Than the Last Bargain Day.

BAND CONCERTS; FREE SHOWS

Today on page five of the Daily Republican appears the usual "Big Wednesday" page advertisement which includes the bargains which are offered by the up-to-date business men of Rushville on the regular bargain day. The "Big Wednesday" will be held next week and it is expected that the crowd will be even larger than that at the previous bargain day this year, due to the fact that farmers generally are not so busy as they were in June. All of the moving picture shows in the city will be free on that day and will run new and entertaining programs. A concert by the city band will be given in the court house square morning, afternoon and night. An innovation will be tried this time, that of keeping all of the stores in the city open on Wednesday evening.

THREE LODGES TO HAVE A BIG TENT

Red Men, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias Committees Reach That Agreement.

TO BE ON CHAUTAUQUA GROUND

At a meeting of the committees from the Odd Fellows, Red Men and Knights of Pythias lodges in the K. of P. building last evening, it was decided that a lodge tent should be rented at the chautauqua grounds during the coming assembly. The three will combine with one tent instead of each having a tent as was first planned. The tent will be thirty by forty feet and will be used as a rest room and visiting place for the members of the three lodges and their families. It is hoped by the chautauqua association that more tents will be taken this year than ever before so that the tenting feature will become a permanent one of the assembly.

A meeting of the members of the Rushville Ministerial Association and the executive committee of the Chautauqua Association in Watson, Tittsworth & Green's offices this morning, some matters of minor importance were discussed at length and decided upon.

Fair tonight and Saturday, probably preceded by showers in extreme south portion.

WILL EXPLAIN CIVIC UNION

The Rev. D. B. Johnson, State Superintendent, Will Address Men's Mass Meeting Sunday.

COURT HOUSE ASSEMBLY ROOM

Organization Has Citizenship as its Basis and Moral Law as its Platform.

A mass meeting, to which all men of Rushville and Rush county are invited, will be held in the court house assembly room Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock under the auspices of the Indiana State Civic Union. The meeting will be addressed by the Rev. D. B. Johnson, State superintendent of the union, and the workings, principals and motives of the organization will be fully explained. An effort will be made to establish the organization in this city.

The Indiana Civic Union is a federation of the civic leagues of the State and an active agency to establish such civic leagues in every community of the State. The civic union movement is very broad in its scope and take up all social and moral issues, such as uniformity of the ballot, observance of the Sabbath day, gambling, profanity, obscene literature, immoral shows, the social evil in its common phases, sanitation, industrial equity and the peace movement.

The movement has its basis in citizenship with the moral law as its platform. It therefore appeals to good citizens of all parties and all churches and furnishes the right basis for united and concentrated action on all the moral forces of a community. The Civic Union federates the communities of the State for constructive legislation on all the social and moral issues.

Greensburg, Bloomington, Greenfield, Franklin, Connersville, Alexandria, Noblesville, Crawfordsville and many other cities in the State have joined heartily in the movement, according to the Rev. Mr. Johnson, and it promises to spread over the entire State of Indiana.

The State executive committee of the Union is composed of men of high standing and influence. Judges, college presidents, ministers, physicians, and practical business men are alike interested in the plan and work of the organization, according to the State superintendent, who was here today.

The Rev. Mr. Johnson comes highly recommended as an entertaining and convincing speaker. He is known in this city by many prominent men and was a classmate of James E. Watson's in DePauw University. The mass meeting will be announced in all of the churches of the city Sunday morning. The plan of the union is comprehensive and yet flexible. It seems imminent that Rushville will be represented as a link in the chain which will form a unified movement to free the State of many of the common evils of today.

STORM VISITS THE CITY

Great Electrical Display Accompanies Downpour of Rain and Hail.

A terrific rain, hail and electrical storm, accompanied by a very severe wind, struck this city about three-thirty o'clock this afternoon and continued for fully a half hour. Terrible reports of thunder were heard which led to the theory that much property was damaged by lightning. At the time of going to press no reports of strikes had been received.

Lesson IV.—Third Quarter, For July 23, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Chron. xxxiv, 1-13—Memory Verses, 1, 2—Golden Text, Eccl. xii, 1—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This is an unusually good lesson for the boys, inasmuch as it is the story of a boy king who began to reign when he was only eight years old and he did right in the sight of the Lord, turning neither to the right hand nor to the left. Reference should be made to that other boy, King Josiah, who began to reign when he was only seven years old and reigned forty years in Jerusalem. He also did right in the sight of the Lord as long as Jehoahaz the priest instructed him, but in his later years he caused Jehoahaz's son to be stoned to death because he brought him a rebuke from the Lord (II Kings xii; II Chron. xxiv). Josiah reigned thirty-one years in Jerusalem; but, although he was a good king and wrought great reforms and kept the greatest passover since the days of Samuel (II Chron. xxxv, 18), yet the last part of his reign was clouded by willfulness, which cost him his life and caused Jeremiah the prophet to lament for him, for Jeremiah prophesied during the last eighteen years of his reign (Jer. i, 1, 2). That even a very young person can serve the Lord we learn also from the

ACT QUICKLY

Delay Has Been Dangerous in Rushville.

Do the right thing at the right time. Act quickly in time of danger. Backache is kidney danger. Doan's Kidney Pills act quickly. Plenty of evidence to prove this.

Harrison Levi, 931 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says: "I have nothing but praise for Doan's Kidney Pills, for they have been of great benefit to me. I was subject to attacks of kidney trouble and no doubt the complaint was brought on by the hardships I endured while in the war. I had severe pains in my back and the kidney secretions were irregular in passage. This weakness disturbed my rest and I knew that something must be done. Three years ago Doan's Kidney Pills were brought to my attention and procuring a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s Drug Store I began their use. In a short time the backache and kidney weakness disappeared and I was in much better health. I cannot say that I am completely cured, but I know that I can rely on Doan's Kidney Pills for relief. I have previously given a public statement in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills and I gladly endorse them again."

story of Samuel, who as a child ministered unto the Lord (I Sam. ii, 18, 21, 26; iii, 1). The prophet Jeremiah said when called to his office, "Ah, Lord God, behold, I cannot speak, for I am a child," but the Lord strengthened him and assured him (Jer. i, 6-9). Timothy from a child knew the Scriptures, and our Blessed Lord said at the age of twelve, "I must be about my Father's business" (Luke ii, 49).

The life of the Lord Jesus was absolutely perfect all through. The life of Samuel was about as nearly perfect as ordinary mortals, by the grace of God, got to it, and with him I associate Joseph and Daniel. But when redeemed by the great sacrifice of Christ we must take no other pattern than His life who left us an example that we should follow His steps (I Pet. ii, 21). The only way is to continually "consider Him" and "run with patience, looking unto Jesus" (Heb. xii, 1-3). One of the most remarkable things about Josiah was that he was mentioned by name 300 years before he was born by an unnamed prophet who predicted that he would do certain things, which he did exactly as predicted (I Kings xiii, 1, 2, and II Kings xxiii, 1-17). Josiah was one of seven men in the Bible story who were mentioned by name before they were born. Let those who are interested search them out.

A very interesting incident to me concerning the other boy king, Josiah, is the way the money was obtained to repair the house of the Lord. I refer to the chest, with the hole in the lid, placed by the altar to receive the offerings of the people, and it worked splendidly, and money was gathered in abundance. Whether Josiah gathered his money for repairs in the same way or not it is not said, but the same thing is written in each case concerning the workmen—viz, that no reckoning was kept with them because they dealt faithfully (II Kings xii, 9-15; xxii, 7).

Note that Josiah in doing right in the sight of the Lord turned neither to the right hand nor to the left (verse 2). Remember the oft repeated phrases in Leviticus, "unto the Lord" and "before the Lord," and the command to Abraham, "Walk before me and be thou sincere" (Gen. xvii, 1, margin).

When he was sixteen years old he began to seek the God of David, his father, and when he was twenty he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem from idols (verse 3), so that he must have sought the Lord according to Jer. xxix, 13. From verse 2 it would seem that he personally superintended the breaking down of the idol altars, and therefore the work would be done thoroughly. Verse 5 refers to the prediction of the man of God in I Kings xiii, 2, which we have already mentioned. Verses 6 and 7 speak of his carrying his cleansing into four of the other tribes and of his return to Jerusalem. It would seem as if he really did what he could to cleanse the land from idolatry and turn the people back to God. It was the last call from God for just twenty-two years after his death the last batch of captives were carried to Babylon, he being succeeded by four bad kings, who reigned twenty-two years.

In the eighteenth year of his reign, when he was twenty-six years old, he began to repair the house of the Lord his God (verse 8). Four times in verses 8 to 10 the house is mentioned. The tabernacle, for about 500 years, and then the temple were the heart of the national life, and at the beginning and close of the life on earth of the Lord Jesus He cleansed the temple. As was their treatment of the temple, so was their treatment of God, for there He revealed Himself to them.

If as believers we would cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God, we would know more fully what it means to be temples of the living God, dwelling and walking in us and manifesting Himself to us as our Father, the Lord God Almighty (II Cor. vi, 16; vii, 1).

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning July 23, 1911.

Topic.—Lessons from the animals.—Ps. civ, 10-31. (If convenient, an outdoor meeting.) Edited by Rev. Sherman H. Doyle, D. D.

The One Hundred and Fourth Psalm is well called "the psalm of creation." In its main outline it follows the story of creation recorded in the first chapter of Genesis. It paints for us "in the frame of the world and the order of nature the living image of God's wisdom, power and goodness, exhorts us to praise Him, because in this our frail mortal life He manifests Himself to us as a Father." Of this remarkable psalm Humboldt, the great naturalist, once wrote: "It might be said that one single psalm represents the image of the whole universe. We are astonished to find  the heavens and the earth sketched with a few bold touches. The contrast of the labor of man with the animal life of nature and the image of omnipresent, invisible power renewing the earth at will or sweeping it of its inhabitants is a grand and solemn creation." We do well to meditate upon this psalm, not only for the lessons it may teach us in relation to the topic, but also that by it there may be breathed into us a deeper and truer spirit of devotion to God.

From the animals we may learn a lesson on God's providential care of His creatures. This lesson is frequently emphasized in Biblical reference to animals. The psalmist here has it in mind, and Christ in His Sermon on the Mount used the illustration of God's care for "the fowls of the air" to teach His disciples to put their trust and confidence in God. How wonderfully God cares for all His creatures! Not only the young lions, but all other beasts of the forests and fields, "seek their meat from God." All creatures of the sea, "both small and great beasts," "wait upon Thee that Thou mayest give them their meat in due season." Each creature must have its appropriate food, and God has wonderfully provided just the food that is needed and has given to each the skill to find its own food. "Behold the fowls of the air, for they sow not, neither do they gather into barns, yet your heavenly Father feedeth them!" Need we fear them? If God has made such wonderful provision for all animal life, will He not care for those whom He has created in His own image and redeemed by the precious blood of His own Son? Are we not much more than they? And if He cares for the less will He not much more care for the greater? Therefore let us trust Him.

From the domestic animals we may also learn important lessons. The ways of the wild beast may be unfamiliar to us, but who cannot recall some trait of the animals associated with the life of man that teaches a useful and important lesson? The ox and the ass, the dumbest of God's creatures, teach us a lesson on gratitude. Isaiah in denouncing the ingratitude of Israel contrasts it with the gratitude of these dumb beasts when he says, "The ox knoweth his owner and the ass his master's crib, but Israel doth not know, my people doth not consider." While animals are grateful to their masters for food, are we ungrateful for all the goodness of God? The faithfulness of the dog is proverbial, and the horse is all but human in its manifestations of intelligent affection, and from these animals we should learn the lessons that they are capable of teaching us.

Visiting the zoological gardens and noticing the variety of creatures and the variety of food required to meet the needs and daily conditions of each one, we were set wondering over the divine response to the dependence of all living things. He giveth them, each one, their meat—that which is precisely suitable for each one—in due season or whenever the need of each one really rises into a cry. "Our sufficiency is of God." Dependence on Him meets response from Him, which claims our thankfulness and our service.

A Great and Mighty Army.

The Christian Endeavor movement has been a never failing inspiration to the young people, has rendered assistance to the pastor inestimably beyond value, has united the young people of the world in loyalty to Christ, and, best of all, has been a great and mighty army used by the great head of the church in leading multitudes of people to Christ.—Rev. J. Wilbur Chapman, D. D.

WHY IT HAS PROSPERED.

Christian Endeavor has prospered because of the unpaid service of millions of young people and their devoted pastors.

It has prospered because it is founded upon universal principles.

It trusts the young people, and they perpetuate and extend it. Ministers and church officers direct the society, but do not need to spend their time and strength in continually urging and pushing it. It has self moving and self propagating powers.

A Chance for Good Crops.

Wall street is recovering from its fright about the crops, and it begins to think that there will be a big yield, after all, says the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. When the government, a few days ago, made its report stocks dropped, because there seemed to be an indication that some of the important cereals would fall off, as compared with 1910. Corn, the great-east of all the crops, will probably be a somewhat smaller yield than it was last year. It must be remembered, however, that last year it passed far above the 3,000,000,000 bushel mark, and left all the records far behind. Based on the acreage and condition given out by the government, a yield of 2,956,000,000 bushels is indicated for 1911, or greater than that of 1906, which was the biggest crop ever gathered except in 1910.

The indications for wheat are that a larger crop will be harvested than we had in 1910, or 702,000,000 bushels this year, as compared with 695,000,000 last year. Oats will be a somewhat smaller crop this year, than that of twelve months ago. Apparently the same will be true of hay and of one or two other important products. The rains which have come in many states since the government made its report have brought an improvement in condition. Except in oats and corn there is a chance still that the crops will make a better showing than they did in 1910, and that year saw a greater cereal yield in the aggregate than had ever previously been harvested.

Usually at this time of the year there is a crop scare, but only seldom does the harvest show any serious falling off. The greatest failure of crops which anybody now recalls was that which took place in 1881, when the drought and heat continued longer than they are likely to do this year, and when corn and wheat made a steep drop in yield. Cotton is the only important crop which seems not to have been injured by the dry spell. The outlook is still that it will go far above the 14,000,000 bale mark, or be, at least, 500,000 bales in excess of the largest crop ever gathered in the past. For many years in succession Secretary Wilson, in his annual report, issued in December, has noted a steady increase in the aggregate value of all the farm products. The figure for 1910 was approximately $9,000,000,000, or more than nine times as great as the amount of the National Government's interest-bearing debt.

The average intelligent Republican is justified in his exasperation because of the know it all attitude of LaFollette, Beveridge and other so-called insurgents. He also has reason to blame his party newspaper for giving support to their visionary conceit, claiming as they do to represent the best interests of the public. "Insurgency" and other fool fads were not disturbing elements in the past when the party and the country enjoyed the top notch of prosperity. If the party newspaper and organization had not made the fads political neither insurgency nor anti-saloon leagues would be disturbing factors today. The individual should not be influenced by either fad nor should he accept the average newspaper estimate.

We were disappointed last month not to get any of those college degrees handed around so freely, but after observing a Master of Arts trying to milk a cow on the wrong side, we feel more reconciled.

When they get equity practice reformed in the courts, we hope it won't be possible to adjourn a case six months because some lawyer wants to go fishing.

So many people visit the bathing beaches to disapprove the deplorable spectacle of the costumes there worn, that it is hard to find standing room on the shore.

The government has put 1,890,000 trout into Maine streams. Old Father Trout who lurks under the bank, will live high for awhile.

"They say that," opines the New Castle Courier, "a smallpox epidemic would have a hard time keeping quiet for five months in Henry county." In other words, Henry county hates itself.

TOURNAMENT IS TALKED ONCE MORE

With Season Well Advanced Tennis Match is Being Considered by Players of City.

WAIT FOR THE FIRST MOVE

With the renewal of the tennis game at the country club courts, much talk is heard concerning a tournament which has been planned here for a number of past seasons, but which has never become a reality. There are a number of good wielders of the racket in this city, who are now in fine trim for an excellent match and there is every reason to believe that a well regulated and managed tournament would provide good sport for persons who enjoy watching the game as well as for those who would participate. The courts at the country club have been busy almost every evening since the beginning of this season and many new players are being developed while the old veterans are just now rounding into form. Players generally favor a tournament, but the desired move has not yet been made.

There is a record of 2,778,000 enlistments during the civil war. It is stated that of this number not fewer than 2,150,798 were under twenty-two years of age. Those under nineteen numbered 1,151,438 and those under seventeen years 844,601.

SOME CHANCE YET.

It is announced in the Indianapolis newspapers that the State Board of Tax Commissioners will make few increases in the appraised values of real estate in the counties over the State without the recommendation of county officials. This is glad tidings to Rush county as it was feared that such action would be taken here even though the county officials attempted to show why the assessments should not be increased in a hearing before the board last Monday.

It was erroneously stated yesterday in a story concerning the new factory building which is being erected that 125 pounds of cement was being used each day and that approximately 3,000 pounds had already been consumed. It should have been 125 sacks and 3,000 sacks respectively. Each sack of cement contains about 100 pounds.

"YOSONDE OF THE WILDERNESS"

Illustrations by Magnus G. Kettner

Being in total darkness myself, I made no attempt to enlighten her as I carefully examined the place. Outside of the scanty supply of coal that remained from last winter's supply the basement contained little save an accumulation of odds and ends and an old chest of mine that contained articles that I had stored away years before. However, I still retained the key to it, and I now opened it and made a careful inspection of its interior. So far as I could discover by a minute scrutiny the articles within it had remained untouched since I had last placed them there, and satisfied on that point I shut and locked it again without having as yet received the faintest ray of light to assist my search. I must have spent at least half an hour in my examination of the place and my questions of the housekeeper, but at the end of that time was compelled to give up with absolutely nothing learned that I had not known to start with. Another thing that perplexed me somewhat was as to whether or not I should inform my uncle of this new crime. I did not see that anything would be gained by telling him, while it would most certainly agitate him and lead to further outbursts; therefore I decided to leave him in ignorance of it and requested Mrs. Tebbets to do the same. I also decided to see LeDuc and get his opinion on the matter, and repairing the outraged doors as best I could with hammer, boards and nails, and soothing the housekeeper by my assurances that the incident was a trifle to which she need pay no further attention, I went upstairs and sat down to my breakfast with Uncle Abner as usual. But an hour later when I had reached my office I telephoned the detective with the request that he meet me at the noon hour. He readily assented and I then went about my daily work.

He met me at luncheon and I explained the matter to him without prelude. He looked serious minded as I finished. "What do you think of it?" I asked. In his abstraction he delayed his reply for perhaps 30 seconds.

"It seems peculiar. But I am more inclined to consider it as a separate and distinct offence rather than as an aftermath of the original happening. Further than that I don't believe I have any theory to advance as yet. However, it may all come out in the final solution, provided there is one, and in the meantime I would dismiss it from my mind if I were you. If you find that difficult, you may look upon it in this light. If I remember, we had a sharp shower last night—the thunder awoke me. It is not unreasonable to assume that some back-yard prowler caught in the storm may have forced his way in merely to secure a dry nest in which to sleep." While I did not take much stock in that explanation and so informed him, I added that being in a receptive mood I would file it in my mind for future reference, and then began interrogating him as to his own movements since we had last foregathered. But when it came to that he had little to say and at first seemed disinclined to part with even that. Later on as we ate, however, he became a trifle more communicative. Under the warming influence of tobacco and coffee he began to make more satisfactory replies to my quizzings, but if he had learned anything of importance he did not betray it. Since the day upon which he had taken an active interest in the case and I had heard his low whistle at the mention of Mackay's name, curiosity had filled my mind as to what his researches would be in that direction. I had gone to Mrs. Dace's with the mention of LeDuc's name that she might understand why I had repeated to him conversations which had occurred between herself and myself, that she might not feel that I had tattle-tailed our private talks without explaining the reason to her. But though I had paved the way by which he might have had a confidential business chat with her, if he had availed himself of the opportunity it had not come to my knowledge. That LeDuc might now have full information of what I had done and feel at liberty to interview her should he desire, I now told him of my talk upon the subject with her; telling him that she had denied absolutely having repeated my half confidences to any one, and had seemed to be amused at the idea that Janet was anything more or less than an automaton. This information he received without comment beyond the paradoxical remark that he could not remember that he had forgotten anything. "What else have you got to tell me?" I urged in finishing. He closed his lips so tightly around his cigar that it resembled a nail driven into a crack and appeared to be filling himself to his toes with smoke as he reflected. Presently he expelled the smoke from his mouth after the manner of a nursery dragon.

"I don't know whether I am acting wisely or not, but under your promise to divulge nothing you may learn from me without my consent I am going to risk it. I know that you believe in your cousin Bruce's honesty."

"Implicitly."

"But do you happen to know that he has somehow or other managed to come into active control of enough money to resume his operations on 'change on a rather liberal scale'?" he queried with a thin smile. I was astonished and told him so.

"Well, he has," he pursued assertively. "Furthermore, he is carrying on his operations under some name which does not sound at all like his own. You look surprised. That's the way I felt when I first found this out."

I ruminated. "But certainly he would not be fool enough to openly and notoriously and under our very noses begin the use of money dishonestly obtained almost the day after the commission of a crime which he knows he has not absolved himself of?" I cried. LeDuc looked at me queerly.

"That is what almost any one

ECZEMA

One of the Most Stubborn and Annoying of All Skin Troubles, Now Being Eradicated by Sulfosol.

The word eczema means to "boil out." It is a catharral inflammation of the skin, showing a red, irritable, raw-looking fluid excluded surface, which, as drying forms scabs. It is difficult to cure permanently, unless taken in hand at once, for in those subject to it it recurs readily whenever the skin is exposed to irritation. If you wish to cure Eczema, purify your blood. This can be done by the use of the worlds one great remedy for the blood—sulfur. Foremost among the wonderful medical discoveries of late years is SULFOSOL, the purest of sulphur and soluble in water. SULFOSOL is Nature's gift to that large portion of humanity suffering from Eczema, Rheumatism, Gout and all forms of blood taints and skin diseases. Get SULFOSOL of your nearest druggist or write to Sulfosol Co., 72 Trinity Place, New York, for free book on Rheumatism, Blood and Skin Diseases and the successful use of SULFOSOL in their treatment.

would think under first impulse. But when you are dealing with criminals you must remember that they do not reason and act just as do honest men. When a sane man takes his life and liberty in his hand and commits a desperate crime, he is of necessity more or less regardless of consequences, as well as being driven by strong pressure. And in nearly all cases it is because of this recklessness that we catch him. He may commit the crime itself with a skill and caution that is almost more than human, yet the next day is apt to go out and do something so foolish that it instantly attracts attention to him. For instance, having had no money before, he now begins to spend it lavishly; or becoming under the influence of liquor boast or let things drop that sound queer. If it were not for these peculiarities of the criminal make up, and the fact that he generally makes a confidant of some woman who betrays him, the road of the criminal would be comparatively safe and that of the detective an unhappy one."

"But I cannot believe that there is anything crooked about Bruce. Deceit is foreign to his whole nature." My friend thrust one hand in his pocket.

"Does he ever smoke cigarettes?" he smiled.

"Frequently."

"Any particular brand?"

I paused to reflect. "I think so. As I remember, those that I have seen were invariably a Turkish abomination with a serrated gilt band for a mouthpiece. What is your reason for asking me that?" He withdrew his hand from beneath the table and tossed a half-smoked specimen of the species which I had been describing on the table before me. I looked at him inquiringly.

"I found that in the hallway of your house near the closet where your uncle had been confined. Perhaps you noticed at the time that I picked up something which I did not show you."

Silently I sat trying to read his blank eyes. But as for divining what lay behind them I might as well have gazed at windows back of which the shades were drawn.

CHAPTER XIII.

Directly after this seance with LeDuc the stock which I had margined began that series of kangaroo leaps upward which will never be forgotten by those, who by reason of their interest, watched the marvel. I probably called my broker up not less than half a dozen times a day during this period, and it was seldom indeed that his last quotation was not higher than the one of say half an hour before. It went darting skyward in the eccentric zigzags with which a kite mounts in a gale, and within a fortnight I found myself richer by thousands added to thousands. The glittering heights of fortune seemingly hung close over me; the end of the rainbow with its great bag of gold was within mathematical striking distance; and taking greater chances than ever for the sake of greater gains, I plunged wildly as I restated my winnings on every throw. And day by day the Midas touch was mine and I won, won, won. Then grown money reckless by my constant success, I permitted myself another piece of extravagance for the allurements of the woman I loved and the greater opportunities it would give me to be with her. I bought a handsome motor car upon which I had had my eyes for some time, housing it in a public garage and telling nobody but her that I had purchased it.

I took Mrs. Dace out on the first evening after I had mastered my new acquirement for a long ride countryward. The weather was ideal, the roads in splendid condition and we sped along to the low whirl of the machine with the soft night air fanning our faces. It had long been understood between us that she was to carefully guard all my confidences, and I kept few things from her. Exultantly I spoke of my increasing wealth and magnificent prospects. Her arm slipped under mine.

"Good, good," she cried with a schoolgirl's enthusiasm. "I congratulate you from the bottom of my heart. It makes me happy to know about it. I told you that I should exercise my sorcery to command your success. When you win I feel that I have won also."

Her tacit confession that she considered herself as a close partner of mine, and that she was backing me to the winning of a prize which we should share together in the long time to come, combined with the delicious sense of comradeship awakened by her arm pressure, became as an intoxicant. In that moment I would have pawned my soul to have possessed her. I threw my arms about her and held her to my breast almost fiercely. "My God, how I love you, Matie. Tell me that you will marry me—you must," I cried, as I found her lips and drained them as a drunkard drains his cup. Her arm hung upon my shoulder; her upturned lips seemed to be clinging to mine; I could feel the ebb and swell of her bosom so closely was she drawn to me, and in that position I held her until a slight warning swerve of the machine temporarily restored my sanity. I quickly removed my right arm and clutched the wheel, but still kept the other around her waist as I begged her in the name of my great passion to make me the happiest man on earth by her answer. Impassionately I recalled to her my long nights and days of torture when I was half sick with despair of ever possessing her. For the first time since our acquaintance began she was visibly agitated by my pleadings.

"You say that you love me with all this great love and tell me that I must answer your question, Tom, dear," she said very softly. "Very well, I will answer you. I will marry you upon one condition."

"And that?" I cried wildly, feeling myself grow weak in the suspense. "That you will not importune me now to fix the date. You must leave that entirely to my discretion. When I think the right time has come I will manage in some way to let you know that I am ready. Until then you must be patient with me like the dear boy that you have always been."

"Then we are really engaged?" I gasped it out with the unbelief of one who by a seeming miracle sees the dead restored to life. She patted my cheek.

"You may so consider us if you wish—under that condition. But it must for the time being remain strictly our secret."

Half doubting that I was still of this earth I steered onward as in a trance. Then, unless my senses were tricking me, this most glorious of women was to become my close companion through all the days to come; the one whose head should rest upon my shoulder through the long nights; whose bosom should pillow my face in hours of weariness; who should be my wife, the mother of my children. My eyes filled with the moisture of happiness and through the mist the chalky roadway blurred before me. A feeling almost of awe filled my soul. Never again will such a great thankfulness possess me, and silently I blessed God that in his infinite goodness he had permitted me to be born. (To be continued.)

SAGE AND SULPHUR CURES DANDRUFF

Restores Faded and Gray Hair to Natural Color—Itching Scalp Quickly Stopped.

This applies to Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy, for if it does not do exactly what is claimed for it, the sales would naturally drop off. However, Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy does "make good," as evidenced by its daily increasing sales. Druggists say that this preparation gives the best satisfaction of any hair remedy ever sold. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is clean and wholesome and perfectly harmless. It removes dandruff, strengthens the hair, gives new life to dull or parched hair, and gradually restores gray hair to natural color.

This preparation is offered to the public at fifty cents a bottle, and is recommended and sold by all druggists. Special Agents, Hargrove and Mullin Druggists, Rushville, Indiana.

SCHOOL MONEY IS DISTRIBUTED

Total Fund of $11,925.02 is Divided by County Auditor Stone and May be Obtained.

RUSHVILLE CITY GETS MOST

Liquor Licenses Add $1200 to Fund,
While Most Comes From Common School Fund.

The July distribution of the fund which is divided among the townships and school corporations to be used for school purposes has been arranged by the county auditor, Jesse M. Stone, and may be had by the township trustees and school corporation officials at any time. There is a total of $11,925.02 to be distributed.

The fund comes from three different sources, namely the common school revenue from the State, congressional interest and liquor licenses. A total of $1200 is derived from the liquor licenses this year, which is $200 from each saloon. The congressional interest contributes only $549.02 to the fund while the greatest source of revenue is from the State which furnishes $10,176.

Rushville school corporation, of course, receives by far the greatest amount of the fund. Rushville township gets the next highest amount with Posey and Anderson township closely following in their respective positions. Jackson gets the smallest amount of any of the divisions while Washington township is second and Carthage school corporation is third from the smallest.

The following is the manner in which the fund is divided:

Anderson—Common school, $805.60; congressional, $43.46; liquor license, $95.00; total, $944.06.

JUDGING CONTEST EXCITES INTEREST

Young Men of State May Compete in Event That Will be Held in Indianapolis.

$250 IN CASH PRIZES OFFERED

The live stock and grain judging contest which is scheduled to take place at the coliseum, State fair grounds, Indianapolis, at 8 a. m., on Tuesday, September 5th, is exciting widespread interest throughout the State. Many young men are writing in to the Extension Department of Purdue University, Lafayette, asking concerning the contest and making application for entry.

The contest, which is open to every one in the State between the ages of 16 and 19 years, offers the young men of the State who are contemplating entering Purdue School of Agriculture, an opportunity to earn scholarships amounting to $250 in cash. This amount will be divided among the first four winners of the contest as follows: First, $100; second, $75; third, $50; fourth, $25. These prizes are awarded by the State Board of Agriculture with the thought in mind of assisting worthy young men to a scientific agricultural training. There are a great many young men to whom winning this contest would mean the opening of a door otherwise closed due to lack of funds necessary to a course of study at Purdue University School of Agriculture.

REACTS ON CONSUMER.

Columbus Republican: The recent conviction of some local grocers for having rotten eggs in their possession is reacting on the consumers. Farmers are refusing to bring their eggs to the city if they have to candle each one of them and as a result there is a shortage of eggs promised. Immediately after the conviction of the grocers here for having spoiled eggs in their stores the price of eggs went up and there are indications that it will go higher.
